

CHANGE AND SHARE!

INFORM

Actively Philanthropy works with people who ask themselves the following questions:
What's the issue closest to my heart? Where can I best put my resources to work?

People, who have an innate desire to use their resources in the most efficient and impactful way.

Active Philanthropy helps them do just that.

INSPIRE

We work with leading business families in Europe who want to use their resources to facilitate strategic and sustainable change.

We work with people who embrace a holistic approach to their resources, by recognising the need for not just financial resources, but also have willingness to use their heads, hearts and hands.

IMPACT

We've created a safe space in which individuals and business families can educate themselves, network and learn from one another. Just as entrepreneurs learn best from other entrepreneurs, donors and investors benefit most from the experience of likeminded people.

A particular goal of our offering is to encourage younger family members – the “next generation” – to find their own path. Our years of working with families have taught us that the new generation measures success not only by the size of financial returns but in sense of purpose and the impact they have on other people and the environment.

“We want to inspire, inform and connect people who want to have an impact with their philanthropy or social investing.”

Dr. Felicitas von Peter, Founder and Managing Partner, Active Philanthropy

EXPEDITIONS

The heart of Active Philanthropy's work is our expeditions: we take you to special places the world over to learn first-hand about issues like climate change and biodiversity. Whether in the mountains of Botswana, the Amazon rainforest or Greenland's glaciers, we facilitate shared understanding and introduce you to impressive people and their ancient wisdom and traditions.

On our expeditions we combine one-off experiences like dogsled tours or treks through the rainforest with indigenous peoples and workshops run by world-leading scientists and experts.

FIELD SESSIONS

Field Sessions are short expeditions that help you become a more effective donor or investor. We'll take to the streets and learn by doing – together with experienced peers, veteran social entrepreneurs, and social startups that are ready to re-invent the world. Get your hands dirty and experience social change up-close.
